

Amanda Thackwray

Executive Assistant

Amanda Thackwray is an Executive Assistant for the North American branch of the International Life Sciences Institute (ILSI) in Washington, DC. In her role at ILSI North America, Amanda supports the Executive Director and the Board of Trustees, in addition to the Board initiated Working Group on Conflict of Interest and Scientific Integrity. In her previous role, Amanda had experience with another not for profit association, meeting management and membership development. Amanda earned a BS in Economics from George Mason University.